[De]structive Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or [hastene]d the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, [of hea]ring, the human voice, the mind—one or more and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored because but little understood by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffling and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT and IMPROVED INHALER, price $1

Forecast of the Coming Week in Congress.

THE SURPLUS CASH RESOLUTION.

Hop Dealers Anxiously Awaiting News from England and Germany—A Prisoner Escapes a Second Time

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The oleomargarine bill is to be further debated in the senate to-morrow and its managers express a hope which however is not shared by the majority of the senate that final action will be reached to-morrow night.

Reports upon the Payne case privilege question are to be taken up on Tuesday, and if the present intentions are adhered to the debate will be left to the republicans almost entirely. To purpose of the democratic members of the committee on privileges and elections to rest their case upon their report gives some ground for the belief that the question may be brought to a vote by or before Wednesday night. If the oleomargarine bill is not disposed of to-morrow it will be taken up again after a vote is reached on the Payne case and carried to its conclusion.

The sundry civil appropriation bill will probably next be taken up and a long debate is expected upon it.

A day will probably be taken before the end of the week for consideration of objected cases on the calendar of nominations.

It is possible though not probable that Senator Dawes will find opportunity during the week to call up the unanimous report of the Indian committee recommending the passage over the veto of the bill granting the right of way through the Indian reservation in Northern Montana.

IN THE HOUSE.

The naval establishment, land grant forfeiture, inter-state commerce and fortification appropriation bills are subjects that promise to engross the attention of the house during the coming week. The unexpected wreck of the last of the appropriation bills, the fortification bill, on Saturday has somewhat disturbed the plans of the democratic [illegible] committee, and it may be found necessary to recommit the bill to the appropriations committee so that it may be replaced by a measure not likely to succumb to the point of order which was made with such fatal effect to the case of the original bill. If this subject can be disposed of in season to-morrow it will be in order to move to suspend the rules and pass bills upon recommendation of committees. Attempts will be made under this order to pass the bill to increase the annual appropriation for support of militia, the bill concerning the [illegible] of patents and possibly the bill to increase the pensions of soldiers who have lost a limb.

The introduction of one or more concurrent resolutions fixing a day for final adjournment is expected, but while present indications point to an adjournment about the first of next month it is by no means certain that the ways and means committee will not report a resolution upon that subject until the last possible moment. The reason assigned is that if the two houses agree upon a day of adjournment motions to suspend the rules of the house representatives will be in order at any time during the last six days of the session and the steering committee would thereby lose control of the business of the house.

THE APPROPRIATION BILLS.

It is believed that final adjournment can not be delayed after the passage of the appropriation bills. The positions of those not yet sent to the president are as follows: The fortifications bill awaits passage by the house, the general deficiency bill has reached its committee and will probably be reported on Tuesday, the sundry civil bill has been reported to the senate and is ready for action of that body. The naval, river and harbor and legislative bills are in the conference stage of proceedings. The last named has already been the subject of two conferences and all but two or three of the points of difference have been adjusted. The most troublesome of the remaining points is the senate amendment providing for private secretaries to senators who are not chairmen of committees. The senate has voted to adhere to this holding that a matter relating exclusively to affairs of the other branch of congress ought not to interfere. A contest over this matter occurs each year always resulting in victory to the senate.

MORRISON'S SURPLUS RESOLUTION.

WASHINGTON, July [illegible].—Senator Miller of the senate finance committee said that he did not think that the committee would report Morrison's surplus resolution to the senate during the present session. The fact appears to be that while a majority of the committee are opposed to the resolution they do not like to return it to the senate even with an adverse report for fear it will be adopted. A decided majority of the senators are said to favor it. It would not, however, be passed without considerable debate, and the clamor for adjournment is becoming so loud and imperative that a [illegible] discussion will be avoided if possible. There is a heavy pressure upon the senate to hurry along the appropriation bills. Two of these, the sundry civil and deficiency, each of which is likely to consume several days, have not been touched yet. Some of the senators who favor Morrison's resolution express a strong desire that it should be passed. They are confident of the result if it can be brought to a vote. It is possible that there may be an effort to either direct the finance committee to report it or to take the resolution out of its hands and place it before the senate. Should it be passed those who best understand the president's position do not hesitate to say that he will without doubt disapprove it.

THE HOP CROP.

Dealers Now Awaiting Advices from England and Germany.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—Reports from New York announcing that the hop crop in the central portion of the state has been seriously damaged by vermin has had the effect of causing a rapid advance in prices. The market is now in a feverish state of excitement and dealers anticipate many fluctuations before the end of the present month. While it is a foregone conclusion that the New York crop while not a failure will be far below the average yield reports from England and Germany are to the effect that the outlook for a good crop is promising. Hops are now quoted in the local market from [illegible] to [illegible] cents a pound and the absorbing question is whether the crops will warrant a maintenance of such prices. Not a few of the merchants believe there will be a sudden decline within a short time while others although not apprehending high prices think it possible that hops will yet be quoted at slightly advanced figures. The condition of the market will largely depend upon the European crop, and until full returns are received prices will be [illegible]. It is believed the [illegible] [illegible] between [illegible] and 45,000 bales [illegible]

[illegible] that there [illegible] quarters [illegible] however the [illegible] and [illegible] did not expect that there would be any marked advance in prices.

But [illegible] no one can be certain how the market will turn in the future for hops are one of the most unstable products quoted. About this time last year you could purchase all the hops you desired at from 5 to [illegible] cents a pound and to-day the price is about [illegible] 400 per cent on these figures. Hops were selling at [illegible] cents [illegible] May they were [illegible] cents a pound.

PRISONER ESCAPES A SECOND TIME.

WALLA WALLA, July [illegible].—Sheriff Bowles caught at Shoshone, Idaho, on Friday George Webb and James Close, who escaped from jail July [illegible]. [Re]turning, Close slipped his shackle in the car at Wallula and escaped. The shackle had a defect [illegible]. Bowles had gone into another car looking for his hat and was gone about five minutes. He left a passenger in charge, who fell asleep. The country about Wallula was scoured for the fugitive. Bowles sent up Webb by a special deputy and organized a hunt. Close is under sentence for one year for killing an Indian near Wallula a year ago. It is thought he cannot escape.

This morning fire broke out in a shed on lower Main street but was suppressed with slight damage. The probable origin is matches dropped by tramps.

STABBING THE LAW.

A Democratic Paper Denounces the Pretense of Civil Service Reform

New York World

The report of the new civil service commission on the case of Mr Veazey, late postmaster at Baltimore, is a practical abandonment of civil service reform as it was heralded in at the commencement of the present administration and as it has been proclaimed in the letters and utterances of President Cleveland.

The report is a post mortem examination of the dead body of a non partisan civil service. It shows that the theoretical pronunciamento that removals of public officers within or without the civil service statute should not be made during the terms for which they were appointed solely on partisan grounds and for the purpose of putting in their places those who are in accord with the appointing power is to be abandoned in practice.

The new civil service commission seeks to answer officially two questions—first, whether the appointing power has the right to make removals from the service for political reasons and next whether in appointing to office covered by the civil service law and rules the appointing power has a right to select one of the eligible candidates because he is a democrat or to reject one because he is a republican.

What answer does common sense, truth, fairness and honesty return to these questions? What answer does fidelity to the civil service law and rules dictate? No! plainly and emphatically no! And when the declarations and pledges of the president are considered the negative becomes a thousand times more emphatic.

But the opinion of the new commission makes no such positive reply. It is contrary to the spirit of the civil service act, they say, to remove anybody from the classified civil service for purely partisan reasons. [illegible] they protect [illegible] presidents [illegible] of the Tammany [illegible] of Baltimore [illegible] prove their assertion [illegible] that the civil service commission has no authority to question the right of an appointing officer to make removals from the service unless a person is removed for refusing to pay a political assessment or to do a political service or because he has refused to let his political action be coerced by a public officer. Indeed the commissioners say that the power of removal is practically unrestricted.

What a farce [illegible] is interpretation becomes of the civil service act and rules! How worthless are all the pompous promises of a non partisan civil service to which the country has been treated!

The commissioners admit that to inquire into the eligible candidates politics and to be guided thereby in the selection of a public officer is a direct violation of the law, and especially of the rule which was made by the president. But the commissioners admit that if the appointing officer maintains silence and there is no circumstantial evidence to show that his choice has been controlled by political considerations he cannot be properly charged with discrimination.

The opinion is written on a dead case. It relates to the official action of Postmaster Veazey, who was appointed by the president, confirmed and resigned voluntarily on account of his private business.

Does it not point the way to an easy evasion of the law and the rules in the very live case of the New York custom house?

The dread of Mr Blaine must be indeed great to induce a mugwump organ like the Evening Post to go into ecstacies over this report as a perfect vindication of civil service reform. We trust that the civil service law shall be openly abandoned or at least administered. It must not be stabbed to death by the assassin knives of a political civil service commission.

SAM JONES ON PROHIBITION.

Milwaukee Sentinel.

In a recent temperance speech Sam Jones is reported as saying

"We never would let politics mix up with the temperance cause; the prohibition movement in the South. We just mixed prohibition with politics. Instead of letting a candidate ride into power, we just harnessed up some old live democrat or republican who had been converted and joined the prohibition party and we rode him into victory. Ye go down in Georgia now and a feller announces himself for the legislature, or for a judge or for anything, about the first line under his name is, 'I am square on the prohibition question. I stand square on that issue.' It's the second thing, it is the next thing after his name—'I am straight on the prohibition question.' And I tell ye all here that prohibition mixed with politics will help politics. But God bless ye, don't put any politics in your prohibition mind. Ye see, I put my sugar in my coffee to help my coffee, but if ye put coffee in your sugar your sugar is ruined."

In recommending this programme Mr Jones, who is a Georgian, overlooks the essential difference between the political situation in the Northern states and that in Georgia.

In the Northern states the people are chiefly divided between two great parties. Each nominates candidates and supports them at the polls. As a rule all the votes cast are fairly counted and honestly returned. The candidates who receive the greater number of votes are declared elected.

In Georgia a different system prevails. One party is largely composed of colored men. If they are permitted to vote they are rarely permitted to elect their candidates. Where they with the white republicans are in a majority the ballot boxes are stuffed or the count is fraudulent by a democratic returning board. Thus practically there is but one party that has any voice in elections. While the prohibitionists of Georgia are earnest for prohibition they are not so earnest that they would support a republican prohibitionist against a democratic candidate opposed to prohibition. For similar reasons a Georgia saloonkeeper would vote for a democratic prohibitionist against a republican anti-prohibitionist. Hence it was practicable for Mr Jones and his co-workers to carry out their plan and mix prohibition with politics, while not mixing politics with prohibition. He tells a New England audience it is true, that they harnessed up some old live democrat or republican who had been converted to prohibition and rode him into victory. But this was a little rhetorical flourish. Out of [illegible] members of the Georgia legislature all but six were democrats and the six members classed as republicans were not chosen on the prohibition issue. Mr Jones and his colleagues would have quickly been sat down upon if they had openly advocated the election of a republican prohibitionist against a democrat of any kind. Their work had to be done inside the democratic organization and they succeeded because the white people of Georgia are strongly opposed to the liquor traffic and are also much more under the influence of their clergy than the people of any Northern state. The Sam Jones plan will not work in this part of the country, for while party feeling is strong here it is not strong enough to induce voters to support candidates who are opposed to them on any vital question affecting their own direct personal interests whether real or supposed.

IS THE PRESIDENT AFRAID?

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald has [illegible] a remarkable explanation of [illegible] why Mr Garland is not yet bidden to take himself out of the cabinet. The story is so important that we print it as it appeared in the Herald.

A prominent Southern man who is intimately connected with all the Pan Electric people said to the Herald correspondent this evening: "I see you say in to-day's Herald that Mr Cleveland wishes to get rid of Attorney General Garland, and will gladly accept his resignation, but that he will not resign. Why should he? It is pretty well understood in Southern circles that the Pan Electric [illegible] is too strong for the administration. [illegible] down the gauntlet to Mr Cleveland some time ago saying, 'Arkansas must [illegible] and if you take the responsibility of removing me your public career will be finished, for Harris and Atkins will carry Tennessee [illegible] [illegible] Arkansas, Johnson [illegible] Georgia [illegible] Virginia [illegible] you. Lamar will sympathize with us if you should seek to unseat me [illegible] and would defeat you in Mississippi.' This Southern gentleman then continued: 'Mr Garland may not have used this exact language, but that is the gist of his defense. The South [illegible] together [illegible] made from both the South are all friendly to the Pan Electric statesmen. The Southern people generally [illegible] the whole Pan Electric business as a [illegible] from [illegible] North [illegible] Southern men [illegible] The South does not think any [illegible] much of Cleveland. If he should [illegible] this Pan Electric [illegible] the South will throw [illegible] the [illegible] he is renominated. [illegible] of the considerations which [illegible] Mr Cleveland [illegible] and explain fully why I never would [illegible] Mr Garland's resignation, while at the same time he would be only too glad to get rid of him."

This dispatch to the Herald places the Cleveland in a rather humiliating position. It ought to be that any democratic newspaper would suffer itself to be made the vehicle of such revelation regarding the president except by its party unless fully persuaded that it was true and that the [illegible] not be suppressed.

Heavy Fire in Lumber Yards at St. Louis.

THE DROUTH IN THE SOUTHWEST

The President's Pronunciamento Stirs up the Politicians—Terrible Stabbing Affray in Illinois—Embezzler Captured

ST LOUIS, July 18.—A fire which proved to be the largest and most destructive of its kind that has ever occurred in this city was discovered at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the lumber yard of Knapp Stout & Co. at the corner of Angelica street and Broadway avenue. An alarm was immediately turned in and two alarms were soon at the scene. They were however obliged to [illegible] water supply unable to cope with the flames which were driven by a strong wind and communicated with the nearest lumber pile, and were making rapid headway toward the Union stock yards, the destruction of which seemed for a time inevitable. The wind suddenly shifted to the opposite direction, however, and they were saved, but [illegible] lumber yards were [illegible]

In the meantime more alarms had been sent in and twenty steamers were called out. The water supply however was entirely insufficient for the emergency and flames leapt from pile to pile through the dry lumber with incredible swiftness. The fire was not confined to any one portion of the yards, for sparks and burning splinters were carried in every direction by the wind and the whole territory of the yards covering thirty-five acres of ground seemed to be one mass of blazing timber. The efforts of the firemen, which would evidently have been fruitless if directed towards subduing the flames, were for the present confined to keeping them from spreading, and in this way were successful. The fire was allowed to burn itself out, and at the end of four hours 25,000,000 feet of lumber were a total loss.

The contents of the yards was mostly lumber of superior grades and the loss on this is estimated very heavy—$400,000. The company's stables were also destroyed, but the horses were rescued. The total insurance cannot at this hour be ascertained, but it is estimated at $2[illegible],000.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS.

A LARGE NUMBER OF PEOPLE DUCKED

FORT MONMOUTH, [illegible] July 18.—The steamboat Columbia of the Knickerbocker line reached here with a large number of excursionists from New York about 4 o'clock this afternoon. A gang plank was run out from the boat to the landing, and as soon as the bar was removed a great rush was made to get off the boat. Purser Perry and some deck hands endeavored to hold the crowd back, but without effect. All at once there was a crash and a splash followed by a cry of horror from those on the boat. The string pieces of the dock had given way and the gang plank with between thirty and forty persons on it had been precipitated into the water. Immediately several men, including John O'Toole, a bartender, [illegible] and Commodore [illegible] of the Columbia, jumped into the water and in a few minutes all the unfortunates who could be seen endeavoring to keep themselves above water were rescued and safely carried to a hotel where they were attended by doctors. They were all resuscitated. The bravery of John O'Toole is especially commendable. He rescued no less than seven persons, mostly women and children. T. J. Brosnan saved [illegible] persons from the water. Some of the rescued persons were able to proceed with their friends and left after obtaining a change of clothing. Twenty-five others are now comfortably housed at the Seaside house.

DROUTH IN THE SOUTHWEST.

ST LOUIS, July 18.—Dispatches from Indian territory say drouth still continues over nearly the whole of the territory. The range is rapidly being ruined and prairie fires are already burning in every direction. Murrain has broken out among cattle in several localities and many are dying. Unless it should rain soon a regular epidemic among cattle is feared.

A dispatch from Topeka says the present drouth in Kansas is the severest the state has known since 1874. Unless rains fall during the coming week corn prospects will be ruined. Corn is just beginning to tassel and is in a condition where rain is most needed. The last general rain was in the latter part of June. Since then the weather has been intensely hot. There have been local showers but not enough to be of any service. The oats and wheat harvests have exceeded the estimates of the state board of agriculture, but from the present outlook the corn crop will be greatly reduced.

TEEMER CHARGED WITH TRICKERY.

LATHAM, NY, July 18.—The result of the rowing races at Bay Ridge last week has caused considerable talk among the sporting fraternity and Teemer is openly charged with having sold out races in which he was defeated. It seems that considerable money was quietly bet and that Teemer was favorite. He was heavily backed by a sporting man from Pittsburg who lost $1,500 on Friday's race, which was won by Ross, and it now leaks out that Teemer gave a friend $1500 to bet on Ross. Teemer and Courtney rowed together yesterday and were favorites, but Ross and [illegible] won, and to-night Courtney charges his mate with having intentionally pulled badly so as to come in second. Gorman, a Pittsburg man, was to have taken Teemer to England and back him for the championship of the world against Beach, but he now declares that he will have nothing more to do with his protege.

THE PRESIDENT'S PRONUNCIAMENTO.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The president's proclamation against improper political work by federal office holders was posted in the custom house yesterday and was the occasion of much remark among deputies and clerks. Tammany politicians are in a bad humor about it and allege that if the president expects to carry this state this fall the democracy made a great mistake in issuing a pronunciamento of this character, which will suit the mugwumps but no one else. At the post office the order is also conspicuously displayed. The disposition to criticise it there is less marked. The order will bar out from the state city and county conventions many of the most prominent machine politicians, but at the same time it will operate as additional guaranty to [illegible] and other employes against money assessments for partisan purposes.

[illegible] CONVENTION.

ST LOUIS, July 18.—The [illegible] convention of the thirteenth congressional district of the state in session at [illegible] City [illegible] of H. R. Fellows of Springfield by acclamation. In addition to the regular county delegates there were entitled to seats in the convention one Knight of Labor for every one hundred members of Knights of Labor assemblies in the district. The resolutions adopted were taken largely from the platform of the Knights of Labor and declare that the government should own and control the railroads, telegraph and telephone lines, that no interest bearing money should be [illegible] bonds, that not another acre of public domain should be given to this railroad or any other corporation, and that after 1895 no alien should be allowed to own land or other real estate.

F J BALDWIN INTERVIEWED.

OMAHA, July 18.—F. J. Baldwin, who passed through here on his way to San Francisco, was interviewed on the status of California as a place for raising fast horses. Baldwin said: "We do raise [hor]ses with bigger lungs and that can stand more than those raised in the Blue Grass region or any where else. They will learn it too when we keep bringing them, and they'll own it when we sell our horses and they are forced to come to us to buy. We have not offered to sell yet, but I shall be in [illegible] about two years. In ten years California will be recognized as the country for fast horse breeding."

PAYING THE INDIANS

NEW ORLEANS, July 18.—An Indian territory special to the [illegible] Democrat says: The distribution per capita of $300,000 received by the Cherokees for grazing privileges is now being made under act of the Cherokee legislature and to full blooded Cherokees only. Their number is about [illegible] and the amount due each is $15.[illegible]. Negroes and other adopted citizens who claimed a share in the money and whose claims have been ignored will carry their matter into the courts. The payments [illegible] will be finished by August 1.

MRS. GRANT

CINCINNATI, July 18.—Evening newspapers state that Mrs. U. S. Grant, widow of Gen. Grant, has recently been in Cincinnati under care of a surgeon for the removal of a tumor whose presence has been alarming to her intimate friends for some time, fears being entertained that it would cause death. She is said to have come here and remained in secret, undergoing a very successful operation, and departed asking that her visit should be kept a profound secret.

MITCHELL SAILS FOR ENGLAND

NEW YORK, July 18.—Charles Mitchell, the pugilist, has sailed for England. His departure was very sudden, no one but Billy Madden being in his confidence. Mitchell says he is coming back soon to make this country his home, but this is not generally believed. Altogether he carries away with him $40,000. When he came to this country three years ago he did not have a cent.

CLEARING HOUSE RETURNS

BOSTON, July 18.—A table compiled from dispatches to the Post from the managers of the leading clearing houses in the United States shows total gross bank exchanges for July 17 [illegible] to be $940,40[illegible], an increase of 27 per cent.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR

TERRIBLE STABBING AFFRAY

ST LOUIS, July 18.—A dispatch from Carbondale, Ill., says a most horrible stabbing affray occurred near Grand Tower late yesterday afternoon, at a picnic held a few miles south of that place. During the day Henry Brown, Thomas Hickman, Mat Rhodes and Robert Knox quarreled several times, but they were separated each time before any serious consequences resulted. Nothing was thought of the matter until after the crowd had broken, when George Allison, a farmer, passed by the place and found Brown, Knox and Rhodes lying within a few feet of each other mortally wounded. Brown lived but a few minutes afterwards. His throat was cut from ear to ear and he bore besides several ugly gashes in different parts of his body. Knox and Rhodes were also terribly wounded and cannot live. No one witnessed the affray, but it is supposed that the quarrel between the men was resumed after the picnic and resulted as stated above. Hickman is still at large, and no trace of him can be found.

A CHINESE MURDER

BOSTON, July 18.—Ding Chung has for some years kept a laundry at 85 Shawmut avenue. He had accumulated considerable money and had arranged to return to China next week, where he left his wife and child. About 11 o'clock last night a young Chinaman, probably 15 years old, who was evidently known to Chong, but seems to have been a stranger to everybody else in the neighborhood, applied to Chong for a night's lodging. Chong gave up his own bed to the boy and betook himself to a window sill. About 2 o'clock in the morning, as near as can be ascertained, the young man arose and murdered his benefactor, stabbing him fifteen times. Chong's body was discovered an hour or two later, lying on the floor in a deep pool of blood. His trunk had been ransacked and about $500 taken. There is no clue to the murderer.

AN EMBEZZLER CAPTURED.

[illegible], July 18.—The police to-night arrested a man whom they believe to be Samuel [illegible], the embezzling pension clerk who suddenly left [Pittsb]urg a day or two ago. He was captured in a house of ill repute on the information given by a woman recently from Pittsburg and who says [illegible] had kept her while there. He will be held as a fugitive from justice until the Pittsburg [illegible] are heard from.

KILLED BY DYNAMITE.

WHEELING, W. V., July 18.—At an early hour this morning Benjamin Ramage, a merchant at the [illegible] coal works, eleven miles below the river on the Ohio side, was killed and his store blown to atoms by dynamite deposited beneath. Henry Campbell, a former partner of Ramage, was arrested on suspicion.

CHARITIES AND CORRECTIONS

The Subject of Prison Reform Discussed in Two Papers

ST. PAUL, July 18.—Several ministers attending the conference of charities and corrections preached in the city churches this morning. The only session of the conference was that at Plymouth church to-night, on the subject of prison reform. Of two regular papers the first was a report by Rev J. S. Milligan of Allegheny City, delegate from Pennsylvania to the International prison congress held in London in 1872. He said: "President Cleveland as well as the National prison association commissioned me to attend the third international prison congress held at the close of last year in Rome, where it met on invitation of the King of Italy. Its sessions were opened and held in the palace of fine arts. Prime Minister M. Depretis was made president and spoke the welcome of Italy to the congress. The number of delegates from Europe, Asia, England and America was large and many of experienced men. The session continued eight days. The display of prison products of every conceivable manufacture, occupied five large halls in the palace of fine arts. Models of twenty-eight cells from various countries made after actual dimensions and style of occupancy were built in the grounds of the palace. The questions treated all the conditions pertaining to criminal jurisprudence, prisons, their discipline and preventive measures. The proceedings will make two large volumes and can be had through our secretary of state. These only can give a fair idea of the breadth and importance of this congress. The next one will convene in St. Petersburg."

The second paper was by Gen. Brinkerhoff of Ohio. It embodied such principles of prison reform as are now recognized as axioms by all the leading penologists. The dominant idea in the creation of prisons should be protection of security by the reformation or permanent detention of prisoners. Vengeance is not tenable under the Christian dispensation and experience has shown that it is not effective. In the reformation of prisoners one of the requirements is indeterminate sentence under which criminals are sent to prison as a moral hospital from which they are not to be discharged until they are cured.

A general discussion followed in which a number of delegates spoke briefly.

CANADA

SUPREME LODGE K. OF P.

TORONTO, July 18.—The supreme lodge of the Knights of Pythias at yesterday's session decided that it was inexpedient at present to take any measures looking to the establishment of a rank for ladies. A large committee was appointed to assist in erecting a suitable memorial monument in honor of Samuel Holderbeins, who lost his life while endeavoring to rescue a friend from a burning building.

ARRIVAL OF A PAPAL MESSENGER.

QUEBEC, July 18.—The steamer Polynesian from Liverpool, which arrived at Point Levis early this morning, brought Monsignor O'Brien, papal ablegate from Rome and bearer of the beretta to Cardinal Taschereau. He was met by Grand Vicar Legare and proceeded immediately to the parish church of Notre Dame de Levis, where he celebrated mass. After dinner he came across to Quebec, where he was welcomed by about 10,000 persons.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY GAME LAW.

There having been many inquiries made concerning the game law of Washington territory, it is given in full below as amended by the last legislature.

First—Deer or fawn can not be pursued, hunted, taken, killed or destroyed between the 15th day of January and the 1st day of August of each year. If killed at any other time the carcass of such deer or fawn must be used or preserved by the slayer or be sold for food. This is to prevent the wanton destruction of such animals as well as to prevent their slaughter for their pelts alone. These animals cannot be hunted or pursued with dogs in the counties of San Juan, Whatcom, Island, Mason, Kitsap, Cowlitz or Klikitat.

Second—No person can take, kill, injure or destroy, or have in possession, sell or offer for sale between the 1st day of April and the 1st day of September of each year any wild swan, mallard duck, wood duck, widgeon, teal, butter ball, spoonbill, gray duck, sprig tail or canvas back duck.

Third—No person can, between the 1st day of February and the 1st day of September of each year, for any purpose take, kill, injure or destroy, or have in possession, sell or offer for sale any prairie chicken, sage hen, grouse, pheasant, partridge or quail.

Fourth—No person can lawfully catch, kill or have in possession, sell or offer for sale any mountain or brook trout in the months of November, December, January, February and March, and no person can at any time of the year lawfully take or attempt to take or catch with any seine, trap, weir or other device than hook and line any mountain, bull or brook trout or salmon trout.

Fifth—It is punishable for any person to destroy or wantonly remove the eggs or nests of the birds mentioned under figures 2 and 3 above.

Sixth—It is illegal to hunt, pursue, take, kill or destroy any elk, moose or mountain sheep between the 1st day of January and the 15th day of August of each year, and it is illegal at any time to kill these animals for the purpose of obtaining the hides, hams or horns of the same.

Seventh—It is illegal for any person to use a sink box on any lake or river in this territory for the purpose of shooting any ducks, geese or other water fowl therefrom, and it is also illegal to use any batteries or swivel or pivot guns for such purposes.

Eighth—For a violation of any of the above provisions the offense is a misdemeanor. It is punishable by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $100, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than five days nor more than three months.

OPINIONS IN BRIEF

Memphis Avalanche: When the democratic platform promised a tariff revision it must have meant what it said.

Louisville Courier-Journal: Valiant Georgians will apply to the fiftieth congress for pensions on the ground that they carried beer pitchers in the prohibition war of 1886.

Philadelphia Press: The fight between Horizontal Morrison and Randall indicates that the country has reached a stage where the two wings of the democracy can't be made to flop together.

Boston Herald (Mug): The democratic party is as much astonished by its president and as incapable of understanding him as was the old hen which hatched out a duckling, and was alarmed when he took to the water.

Cincinnati Commercial Gazette: Of course there is not a particle of truth in the story that Judge Thurman is to take Garland's place in the Cleveland cabinet. It is too late for Thurman to save this administration.

The Louisville Courier-Journal says to the faithful in the East: "We cannot undertake to carry democrats from the East." To which the New York Sun responds: "All right, but don't try to prevent Eastern men from electing democrats by useless slashing around here about the tariff."

St Louis Globe-Democrat: As a matter of fact the accession of the democratic party to power did a great deal to demoralize trade, which in turn precipitated the entire train of strikes, boycotts, and anarchist riots. No republican will be disposed to question the justice of the claim that to the democratic party belongs the credit for this condition of things.

Gladstone will Resign Before Parliament Convenes

THE COALITION PLAN BROKEN.

Notes from Ireland—Trial of the Charleroi Rioters—An Interesting Budget of News from South America.

NEW YORK, July 18.—G. W. Smalley's London cable to the Tribune says: Gladstone's return to London has cleared up some doubtful points. He found his colleagues unanimous in favor of resigning before parliament meets. They found him resolved to give effect at the earliest moment to the verdict of the country. Gladstone will resign but not retire. That fondest hope of his opponents is doomed to disappointment. Defeat has perhaps angered him, but certainly it has not disheartened him. It does not appear that Gladstone shares the hopes entertained by some liberals of a speedy reunion of the party. His forecast of the political future proceeds on a different calculation, the old one of inevitable tory blunders. Lord Salisbury will take office and Gladstone's 260 followers, including the Parnellites, will form a compact opposition. Salisbury must frame a policy for Ireland which cannot be home rule in any shape that Parnell would accept. Gladstone believes that any possible tory scheme for governing Ireland must break down, and the moment will come when the liberal unionists will find themselves unable to support their allies, that the ministry will go to pieces, and when all these things come to pass the country will then see that his plan, not Gladstone's, is impractical, and will reverse its decision.

ALLEGED REMARKS BY GLADSTONE.

PARIS, July 18.—Le Paris published an interview between one of its correspondents and Mr Gladstone in which the latter is reported as saying: "The liberals who follow me and the Irish members constitute a compact minority, whose will it is impossible to disregard, because among the victors are some who perhaps are less indisposed than is believed to enter the path of thorough reform for Ireland. If I listened to the warning of age, I would retire from public life, but would be committing a guilty action in abandoning the field after raising so much ire and inspiring so many hopes, if I did not seek to appease one and satisfy the other. I have worked all my life to deliver a suffering people and I mean to die as I have lived."

GLADSTONE WILL RESIGN

LONDON, July 18.—At an informal meeting of the cabinet Saturday Gladstone spoke in favor of immediate resignation and was supported by Earl Spencer and Mr Morley. Sir William Harcourt, Mr Childers, Mr Campbell Bannerman and Sir Farrer Herschell were in favor of challenging a vote in the house of commons on a motion affirming the principle of home rule for Ireland. Subsequently, however, Gladstone stated that he had definitely decided to resign and conduct an unceasing opposition. In this decision Sir William Harcourt and Mr Childers then concurred.

HARTINGTON'S FEELINGS

LONDON, July 18.—Lord Hartington and Sir Henry James have definitely declined to join a coalition ministry. Lord Salisbury's offer to make the Duke of Argyle premier was contingent upon Lord Hartington's joining the coalition, and the offer is now withdrawn. The Duke of Argyle will probably be made viceroy of Ireland with Mr Stanhope as secretary.

A COALITION RUMOR

EDINBURGH, July 18.—The Scotsman publishes a report current at Inverary that a coalition is being formed by the terms of which the Duke of Argyle will become premier, the Marquis of Hartington and Lord Salisbury serving under him.

SOUTH AMERICA.

AN INTERESTING BUDGET OF NEWS FROM PANAMA

NEW YORK, July 18.—The mail steamer from Panama brings the following advices:

The Fourth of July was duly celebrated here and in Colon, great enthusiasm being displayed. Several American citizens and others called upon Adamson, United States consul general here, and were most cordially received and entertained. Civic and military chiefs also called upon the general, as also did several foreign consuls.

The new constitution for the republic has not yet been concluded. A board of delegates has been working at it in the capitol at Bogota for months. By articles of it already approved it is quite certain that most of those liberties heretofore enjoyed will be considerably curtailed. Capital punishment has been again restored and the nation is to go back again to centralization and immense powers will be vested in the president. There are to be no more sovereign states, but departments, the governors of two of which—Panama and Cundinamarca—will be appointed by the president of the republic, and not as heretofore by the people. The term of service of the governors will be considerably extended, whilst changes will be made in the election system and in the regulation of religious matters of the state.

The administration of the postoffice department is very unsatisfactory in Panama, and the administration is constantly imposing vexatious restrictions. Since the difficulty between the Pacific Mail steamship company and the United States postal department the company has undertaken to bring all letters for consignees of freight shipped from New York by steamers in a special bag or package which is dispatched from the superintendent's office in New York in the care of the purser of the ship by whom it is delivered to the general agent of the company in this city.

Dr Calderon, formerly president of Peru, is in Panama and will take his departure for Peru this evening. He has been absent five years.

The Peruvian congress has entered fairly upon its duties, and the greatest harmony exists between the chamber and the executive.

The minister of the Nicaraguan government residing at Bogota has addressed a note to the chief of the Mosquito coast territory, in which it says that information has been received that the municipal council of that territory is making concessions of land which are unauthorized and that the same authority has given a privilege to extract India rubber and cut woods from places under the jurisdiction of Chantales. The minister, acting according to instructions received, has intimated that the government of Nicaragua will not recognize these concessions as they are beyond legalities. The government will not recognize any titles for lands occupied but will take possession thereof and dispose of them without admitting any right for remuneration for whatever buildings may be erected or established on them, reserving at all times the right to claim indemnity for rubber, wood or other products which may have been taken from Nicaraguan territory.

IRELAND

NATIONALIST DEMONSTRATION

DUBLIN, July 18.—There was a national demonstration at Monaghan yesterday after the result of the election had been declared. Judge Dalton of New York, in a speech, said that before he left America several hundred [illegible] to assure them of their sympathy with the Irish cause and asked him to bear a message of assurance of America's assistance with money and voice as long as the Irish kept within the constitutional limits in their struggle for home rule.

The trial of the Belfast rioters was adjourned yesterday on the ground that the crown's witnesses were reluctant to testify, fearing that their houses would be wrecked.

There were serious election riots in Tyrone yesterday. Several persons were injured and a large number were arrested. Additional police are being drafted.

DYNAMITERS KILLED BY AN EXPLOSION

CORK, July 18.—An explosion occurred to-day at an unused house near the residence of Mr Crawford of Lakelands, two miles outside this city. Two bodies were recovered from the debris and identified as those of a carpenter named Lonz and a laborer named Brian, the latter of whom was in the employ of Crawford. It is supposed the men were engaged in handling dynamite.

ENGLAND

MEETING OF SOCIALISTS

LONDON, July 18.—Socialists of Marylebone held a meeting at Bell-street and Edgeware road to-day. The police requested them to disperse, but they refused to do so. Williams, one of the speakers, said that if the police persisted in their present policy they would drive the socialists into secret union, to the terror of the governing classes. The police made no arrests.

STEAMSHIP WRECKED

NEW YORK, July 18.—A special cablegram from London tells of the loss of the English steamship St Andrews from Bone Fields for Philadelphia. The crew are safe but the vessel is a total loss. The St Andrews hailed from Hull, England. The loss of the vessel and cargo will amount to over $250,000.

BELGIUM.

TRIAL OF THE CHARLEROI RIOTERS

BRUSSELS, July 18.—The trial of eighteen rioters for sacking the Baudoux glass factory at Charleroi in March last was begun at Monson Saturday. The chief prisoner is Oscar Falleur, secretary of the Union Verriere Workingmen's society, allied to English and American socialist societies.

THE CHOLERA RECORD

ROME, July 18.—Following are to-day's returns from the cholera infected districts: Brindisi, 7 new cases and 2 deaths; Fontana, 16 new cases and 3 deaths; Latiano, 8 new cases and 5 deaths. A few new cases, but no deaths are reported from other places.

PORTLAND, MONDAY, JULY 19, 1886.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

Veto of the river and harbor bill is evidently feared; and this fear was what induced the senate to scale the bill 25 per cent. Whether the house will make another propitiatory offering to the president by scaling the bill still further will soon be seen. As passed by the senate the bill will appropriate between $14,000,000 and $15,000,000. Between the old and new states there is a controversy on this subject, which arises from the difference of their conditions. The states of the Atlantic sea-board, whose ports are well improved, whose railroad systems control transportation and whose rivers are mostly small, don't want large appropriations for themselves and don't want the other states, which are behind in this development to have them; and moreover, the great railway systems of the country are controlled in the East, and the owners and managers of these do not want any development of water way transportation that will interfere with railway profits and plans.

Only within recent times has it been admitted that the general government had constitutional power to make these appropriations. Under the state rights theory it was held that a government of limited powers could do nothing that its charter did not expressly provide for or authorize. In 1854 a river and harbor bill was vetoed by President Pierce on constitutional grounds; but his doctrine of "strict construction" has now passed away, and if we get from President Cleveland a veto of the river and harbor bill now pending we shall doubtless find the president putting his objections on the ground of general extravagance and alleging that the appropriation is not the result of discriminating study of actual wants, but a combination affair, a log-rolling job, in which every congressman's district has been given a share in order to unite as much force as possible in support of the general scheme.

It is true, unquestionably, as the Milwaukee Sentinel in an article favoring large appropriations admits, that in every river and harbor bill there are appropriations for improvements that are in no sense material—that have no effect on general commerce. The system under which the bill is drawn makes it impossible for really deserving improvements to secure appropriations upon their merits. One of the conditions on which many members vote for the bill is that their districts shall be represented whether any need exists for the expenditure of money or not. This has led to the popular denunciation of the bills as a form of plunder. The size of the aggregate appropriation, too, is a matter of criticism, and to meet this a horizontal reduction is made after the manner of Morrison's last-year tariff measure.

The present bill, before the senate scaled it, proposed to appropriate about $19,000,000. In the present state of the treasury the government could well afford this appropriation. Some parts of any appropriation will unavoidably go to objects of little importance. A bill appropriating $19,000,000 might possibly be carried over a veto, but the senate has not chosen to take the risk. The bill of 1882-3 appropriated $18,743,875. It was vetoed by President Arthur, but congress passed it over the veto. Members know better than the president how great an interest the people of their own states and districts take in the improvements to be fostered by these appropriations.

INHARMONIOUS RING MUSIC.

Taking the beautiful morality of J. H. Mitchell's personal, political and public life to inspire and guide it, the Astorian laments the "moral obtuseness" of THE OREGONIAN's course in political affairs. But the Astorian, although it denounces the chairman of the state republican committee for his treachery, is yet itself so "obtuse" that it doesn't see what every one else sees, namely, that the conduct of the chairman was exactly in accord with the general methods of Mitchellism, and that since Mitchell has absolute control of the machinery of the party, this is the reason why Simon has not been nor will be removed from the chairmanship. It is touching, indeed, to find one who has set up J. H. Mitchell as his model of all the virtues, lamenting the "moral obtuseness" of other people. The drunken man usually thinks every one else as drunk as himself. The moral idiot is even more absurd, since, though he babbles unceasingly about morality, he can have no conception of any moral standard whatever. Simon stays and will stay; and his staying is test and proof of the complete ascendency of Mitchellism in the management of the republican party. The system known as Mitchellism depends on "deals" with democrats, on crafty and corrupt skill in managing primaries and conventions, on treachery to republicans not of the ring, on violation in the legislature of pledges to constituents, on purchase of votes in elections and in the legislature. Simon's "deal," by which Waldo was defeated, was but one of the most trifling incidents in this system of general infamy. Unless there is to be a complete reorganization of the party which shall wholly exorcise Mitchellism, Simon is the man for the place—ought to stay and will stay. It is to be regretted that the Astorian, which undoubtedly aims to be a faithful Mitchell and ring organ, plays its part so clumsily as it does. But no doubt a little tutoring from the headquarters of the committee, or from the worshipful head boss at Washington, will soon bring it into "harmony with the party." It may be hoped so, for there is nothing worse than ring music, "when time is broke and no proportion kept."

THE MARQUIS OF SALISBURY.

Lord Salisbury, the tory leader, who will succeed Gladstone as prime minister of England, first rose into public notice as Lord Robert Cecil, in 1852; he was the younger son of a great peer, and at one time was obliged to depend upon his literary ability for his bread. He wrote for the Quarterly Review and for leading tory newspapers. He became Lord Cranbourne, and finally Marquis of Salisbury. Under Beaconsfield in 1878 he was made minister of foreign affairs. In the outset of his career he was described as a man of brilliant ideas, ready in debate, with a genius for saying "bitter things in the bitterest tone;" he was rated as lacking solidity, caution and large political information. His gestures were awkward, his voice harsh; his tongue rude, and gratuitously offensive. His veracity was impeached after the Berlin treaty, and his attempted defense was completely broken down, and he was disgraced. He was always an ultra tory, but he was never a trustworthy party man; his temper is of the rule or ruin quality, and he is hated and feared by many of his associates, while he is admired by a few for his undoubted talents. June 20, 1885, he succeeded Gladstone as prime minister, only to quickly give way to him, as the leader of the liberal-Parnell coalition. This coalition beaten at the polls, Salisbury is again the leader of the opposition to Gladstone. An interval of thirty-five days must elapse between the dissolution of one parliament and the assembling of another. Gladstone will probably follow the precedent created by Disraeli in 1868, followed by himself in 1874, and confirmed by Beaconsfield in 1880; that is, he will resign office, so as to allow a new ministry to be formed and fix a convenient date for the meeting of parliament. This procedure began with Disraeli, and is now considered constitutional usage.

It is suggested that Portland organize a celebration somewhat after the plan of the "last spike" demonstration of three years ago, for the entertainment of such of the Grand Army excursionists as may come this way after the reunion at San Francisco. The proposition is not likely to meet with favor. If the Grand Army had honored Portland by holding its reunion here, then, indeed, it would have been proper for our people to tender a grand reception. But there is certainly no call to get up a demonstration in honor of the few stragglers who, after the big feast at San Francisco, may choose to go home by the northern route. Even if the scheme were taken up, our utmost endeavor would be a small and shabby affair in contrast with the big demonstration at San Francisco, a mere feeble echo which would not be creditable.

NORTHERN PACIFIC PROMISES

The Northern Pacific railroad managers tell us that Portland will be the actual terminus of their road, after the completion of the Cascade branch, as it is now, and we are disposed to believe them. Indeed, it could not well be otherwise, since Portland is the business center of the country. The business of Tacoma, prodigious as we may conceive it to be, upon reading the newspapers of that city, will hardly support a transcontinental line of railroad. Through freight and passengers over this line, after the completion of the Cascade branch, as now, will come to Portland. Portland, the actual western terminus, has about the same advantage over Tacoma, the official western terminus, that St. Paul, the actual eastern terminus, has over Duluth, the official eastern terminus. These facts, which are clear enough, are admitted or put forward by the Northern Pacific managers, when talking to Portland men, but it seems they have another story for the Tacoma people. From the Northwest Magazine, a publication issued by an employe of the Northern Pacific, and under the patronage of that company, we take the following:

> A great commercial city will spring up on the deep, land-locked waters of the sound, which will send out to sea the enormous grain surplus of interior Washington and receive in its lap the rich commerce of China and Japan. Eastern and Western Washington, united at last despite the great separating barrier nature has erected between them, will freely exchange their products and enter upon a new career of development. The magnificent Northern transcontinental line will need no leave of other corporate powers to get access to the tidal waves of the Pacific. At last the dream of Isaac I. Stevens, of Edwin F. Johnson, of Jay Cooke, of Milner Roberts, and of Samuel Wilkeson will be realized.

The tone of this is in striking contrast with the assurances given citizens of this city by the managers of the Northern Pacific. If Portland were in a situation where she could seriously be helped or hurt by the Northern Pacific railroad, we would take this double dealing as a serious matter and suffer some alarms from it, but secure in a situation which no railroad management can change, Portland rests serenely indifferent to the promises or the threats of "magnates." We are now past the age of expecting or desiring anything through anybody's favor.

PUBLIC SPIRIT IN POLK COUNTY.

The Polk county court, when appealed to by the residents of the eastern part of the county to give $7500 to aid the construction of a bridge across the Willamette river at Salem, declined to do so. The grounds of refusal are not given officially, but it is understood that the chief opposition was one of policy, the court holding the opinion that the proposed bridge would take business from the Polk county towns to Salem and be an injury rather than a benefit. It was urged, too, that it was not right to tax the whole county for the benefit of a particular section. We cannot think that the court acted wisely. Surely if the proposed bridge would help the people of the eastern section it would advance the value of the property of that section and so increase the taxable property there. From this the whole county would certainly gain an advantage. And since it is and must be the policy of Polk as of every other county to make bridges and roads, it would be no violation of the common and necessary practice to aid in building this bridge at Salem. The judgment of the court appears narrow and strained and we are not surprised to learn that the people of the eastern section feel that they are not fairly dealt with. But they have not given up hope of county aid and have again appealed, this time for $5000, having made up $2500 by subscription among themselves. In the meantime, so that the bridge work may go on, they have pledged themselves to pay the other $5000 if the court again refuses their prayer. This arrangement was made by a mass meeting of the people interested, the money being pledged by men of the highest financial standing. The spirit with which this thing has been accomplished, is somewhat new in the Willamette valley and it promises much for the advancement of a section which, with a hundred advantages of nature, has been slow in development. If the people of the valley will get the spirit of energetic self-helpfulness, with the idea of making the most of their rare opportunities, then can double the population and business of the country in five years. The problems of the time, serious as they seem, will disappear before such a spirit and the Willamette valley will become what it ought to be by right of situation and climate, the richest and most progressive part of the Northwest.

All the money needed to build a bridge across the Willamette river at Salem has been provided. The Salem corporation gives $30,000, Marion county gives $15,000 and citizens of Polk county give $7500. It is hoped, however, that the Polk county court will think better of the project and relieve the people of the eastern section by giving $5000 of the $7500 pledged by them. The plans have been perfected and the contract let and the work will go ahead at once. Salem will gain greatly by this bridge and Polk county will profit by a near and easily accessible market. A bridge is often the making of a city. The bridging of the Missouri had much to do with Kansas City's growth. St. Louis was greatly benefited by a big bridge, and that sleepy city, Brooklyn, has had a great awakening since the completion of the Brooklyn bridge, and has increased in population since its construction from 670,000 to 770,000 people.

In the "broad statesmanship" of our senators there is something which reminds us of a former resident of Portland who spent some years in writing a book on logic, in the meantime allowing his wife and children to starve.

NOTES FROM WASHINGTON CITY.

Statement of General Appropriations for Oregon and Washington Territory down to the Present Time.

[Correspondence of The Oregonian.]

WASHINGTON, July 11.

It is now possible for the first time in our history to give an accurate and full statement of the expenditures of the government for public improvements. During the Forty-sixth congress the accounting officials of the treasury department were directed to prepare a statement of these expenditures, from the formation of the government in 1789 down to the year 1882, and the work has been finished. As can be seen, this is not a full statement. Your correspondent has therefore examined the appropriations of the past four years and incorporated them with the treasury compilation. The following will show the allowances for Oregon and Washington. And, first, as to the public buildings.

In common with all the territories the first building authorized for Oregon, in 1850, was a penitentiary at Portland. The allowances have been as follows:

|---|---|
| Astoria custom house | $116,128 90 |
| Portland custom house | 396,500 00 |
| Penitentiary | 60,000 00 |
| State house | 52,000 00 |
| Total for public buildings | $624,628 90 |

The river and harbor allowances are as follows:

| | |

| Willamette and Columbia rivers | 445,000 |
| Willamette river | 229,500 |
| Upper Willamette and Yamhill rivers | 42,000 |
| Mouth of Columbia river | 100,000 |
| Yaquina bay | 160,000 |
| Total for rivers and harbors | $2,340,000 |

The following provision has been made for public roads:

| | |
|---|---|
| Steilacoom to Fort Walla Walla | $ 20,000 00 |
| Myrtle Creek to Camp Stewart | 110,000 00 |
| Astoria to Salem | 70,000 00 |
| Five per cent. fund | 34,929 99 |
| Total for roads | $234,929 99 |

FOR LIGHT STATIONS:

MORE SPRINKLING WANTED.

PORTLAND, July 17.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Please permit us to state for the information of whom it may concern that we are tired swallowing dust, and respectfully ask that Sixth and Columbia streets be sprinkled the remainder of the season, at least as far west as Park and as far south as Market.

T. P.

How to Shorten Life.

The receipt is simple. You have only to take a violent cold, and neglect it. Abernethy, the great English surgeon, asked a lady who told him she only had a cough: "What would you have? The plague?" Beware of "only coughs." The worst cases can, however, be cured by DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. In Whooping Cough and Croup it immediately allays irritation, and is sure to prevent a fatal termination of the disease. Sold by druggists.

"SHOOK" HER HUSBAND

Mr. L. A. Moore, who recently arrived in Seattle, was fined in the justice court yesterday $[illegible] and costs for carrying a concealed weapon. The testimony developed is that Mr. Moore went to the house of one F. W. A. Simpson on Fifth street, opposite the university, in search of his wife, who eloped with Simpson and came here about a week ago. Mrs. Moore was at the house but refused to recognize her husband and said she would not return home but would stay with Simpson. Simpson is a cook at the New England hotel. Mr. Moore, believing discretion the better part of valor, allowed her to choose for herself and left for his home.—Seattle Press.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

GOOD SEASON TO THE TRAMPS.—For some time past a gang of tramps have been making their headquarters in a shed on Twenty-second street between L and F streets. At times as many as twenty-five have lodged there at times and have annoyed the residents in that vicinity by sallying out in the morning and begging for their breakfasts, and in some cases impudently demanding food. Early yesterday morning policeman Emig and Robinson made a descent upon the shed and found about twenty big huskies snoozing therein. A general scatterment took place [illegible] the officers succeeded in capturing five fellows, who gave the names of John Allen, Wm. Murr, [illegible] Smith, James Crowly and George Works. They were locked up and will appear before Judge [illegible] this morning. There are times when one feels pity for tramps but this is not one of the seasons for indulging in such feelings. Everywhere in the country men who wish work can find it in the harvest fields and railroad hands are advertised for all the time. There is no necessity for stout, healthy men to be tramping or begging except that they are too lazy to work and prefer to beg or steal. Now is the time when every tramp's roost should be harried by the police and every lazy bulking loafer of a tramp [illegible] should be obliged to leave town at once in search of work or he should receive the full penalty of the law.

SOMETHING ABOUT MOSQUITOS.—Portland is favored with freedom from mosquitos. Of course there are some in low parts of the town where there are pools of stagnant water and the residents in these localities complain of being annoyed by the little pests. But the almost entire absence of mosquito bars in the houses and hotels of this city show that the animals are not very plentiful. In many places around the country, especially in the neighborhood of lakes, ponds and streams, the mosquitos make life a burden both day and night. Those who are bitten by the little brutes can derive some satisfaction from knowing that they are preyed upon by parasites which probably annoy them as much as they do us. It is well known that mosquitos are hatched out in swarms from pools of stagnant water but it is not known by every one how the stock is kept over the winter. A gentleman who has spent several years in the mines states that in the spring, when overhauling his sluice boxes which had been piled up during the winter he found some of them lined with mosquitos which had crawled in them, and being protected from the rain and snow had lived all winter. So it appears that the mosquito hibernates all the same as the bear, but it is doubtful if it finds any nourishment in sucking its paws as the bear is said to do.

OUTWITTING A CHINAMAN.—A wag in the employ of a prominent store on First street hit upon a scheme to drive off Chinese who congregated on the sidewalk to admire the pretty things exhibited in the window. He rigged up a small hose in the cellar with a nozzle pointing upwards from an aperture under the window. Whenever a Chinaman stopped too long the clerk turned "the hose on him," not strong but with force enough to reach his face. One celestial however did not propose to be bluffed in this way, so the next day he came up and held his hand over the end of the nozzle and stared into the window for nearly half an hour just to show that he had outwitted the wag. Something had to be done to get even with the smart heathen, so the clerk rigged a darning needle with a spring inside the nozzle. A few days afterwards the same Chinaman came again and to save a ducking pressed his thumb over the end of the nozzle. In about thirty seconds the trigger was sprung, and the haste with which that thumb was withdrawn and thrust into the owner's mouth, was something remarkable. This was more than a week ago and the Chinaman has not been back since.

NO MARKET HERE.—People devise strange schemes now a days to get free advertising. The latest is by a Michigan lady who sends four wampum shells to THE OREGONIAN and says she has more than she wants for her collection and will give what she has to spare to those who will send their address and a stamp. She says her husband collected these shells while trading with the Alaska Indians and that their par value is four cents apiece. She probably has other rare and curious articles in her "collection" which she would like to sell and those sending their names and a stamp would doubtless receive a catalogue along with the two or three pieces of wampum she is so desirous to give away. She should know that parties in this section who desire specimens of wampum can obtain them without writing to Michigan and therefore it is not worth while to publish her name and cause her to be troubled with writing so many letters to get rid of her wampum and other people of their stamps.

WHERE DID IT GET NOURISHMENT?—On the mantel in the office of W. H. Williams, architect, is a flower pot about nine inches across the top in which is growing an ivy plant. The plant climbs the wall and reaches thence to the gas fixture in the center of the room and thence across to the further side. There are several vines or branches to the plant, each of which is about twenty five feet in length. The whole of the vines could not be squeezed into the pot if the dirt were removed. The pot has been standing on the mantel for ten years and the dirt has never been changed or replenished. Now the query is where did all the matter come from to form the woody stems of these vines and the leaves. The greater part must have come from the water given to the plant and from the atmosphere. The ivy, however, is more hardy than most plants, and there are probably but very few which would grow and thrive in a single potful of earth in a close room with but little care, for ten years. "Oh a rare old plant is the ivy green."

HOUSE WARMING.—Last Friday evening a host of friends of Rev. W. O. Forbes and wife came uninvited to the new pastoral residence in Albina, bringing baskets well filled with viands and took possession. In the afternoon these same friends had caused to be hung in the parlor several fine lamps. Shortly after the arrival of the party in the evening, the lamps were lighted and formally presented to the pastor. Soon after a serenade was tendered by the Albina band. Then the company sat down to supper and the evening was very pleasantly passed. Mr. Forbes and family were made to feel that they have a strong hold on the hearts of their people. The pastor has had a hard year's work in building the church and parsonage along with the performance of his other duties and expects soon to take a rest for a short time to recruit his health and strength.

MONSTER MOUNTAIN SHEEP.—From Melrose comes the intelligence that Tom Robbins, proprietor of the Melrose boarding house, had quite an exciting hunt one day last week. He had heard that a huge animal of some strange species had been seen on McCarty mountain, a few miles from Melrose and started out to investigate. At noon he was eating lunch on the mountain when a large mountain sheep hove in sight, and when it arrived at a spot within about 1[illegible]0 yards of where the huntsman was sitting he shot and killed it. The head and horns of the animal weighed over 200 pounds and when dressed the carcass tipped the beam at over [illegible]00 pounds. It is the largest mountain sheep ever killed in Montana and will be an interesting addition to the National museum at Washington.—Butte Miner.

HALF AN OUNCE-A-DAY DIGGINGS.—From new discoveries constantly being reported from all directions it seems that there is plenty of pay dirt left in this state and it is possible that some time as rich diggings as those worked in early day may be discovered. The latest discovery is reported by the Grant County News, which says: "New placer diggings have been discovered on a branch of Big creek, a tributary of the Middle fork of the John Day. The discoverers are John Kingley, Jim Magruder and some others. It is said that two of the men worked two days with a pan and cleared up an ounce of gold dust. There is a scarcity of water at present but they can get a full head by digging a ditch a mile and a half long. Several claims have already been taken."

SMALL FIRE.—The alarm turned in from box [illegible] last evening was for a slight fire [illegible] the [illegible] factory of W[illegible] [illegible] Park street. It seems that a [illegible] partly completed matches took fire from the [illegible] of [illegible]. The fact that the loss was confined to [illegible] matches alone shows how promptly the [illegible] was on hand. The fire was put out by a Babcock extinguisher and no water was thrown by the engines. However the boys had a good run and they will feel better for it as it is very healthy to start the perspiration in hot weather.

THE YAKIMA HOP CROP.—A business man of Portland writes from North Yakima: The best estimates place the acreage of hops in the Yakima country at [illegible]0 acres. The vines are looking fine and unless some unforeseen disaster overtakes them there will be a large yield to the acre. Hop growers are very excited over prices and refuse to contract at almost any rate. Grain is looking well and harvest is in full blast. Hay and other crops did and are doing well.

EXCURSION TO OCEAN—EVERY ONE A SEAT.—Arrangements are being made on the Lurline for the Wednesday's excursion with extra seats so that every excursionist can be sure of a seat and not have to stand.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—Judge Deady will deliver an opinion in this court this morning in the case of Allen vs. O'Donnell.

BRIEF MENTION

California canteloupes have appeared in market here.

Many Portlanders will leave for the coast tomorrow.

The mercury reached 94 yesterday, the hottest of the season.

Entire change of bill at the Tivoli to-night. Strong attractions.

Third week of the "Jolly Pathfinders" at the New Market; entirely new bill; same low prices—[illegible], 25 and 35 cents.

In the advertising columns under "Special Notices" is a notice of sale of St. George hotel property and adjacent house and lot by John Bigne, July [illegible].

The body of a man, evidently a Columbia river fisherman, was found on the beach eight miles north of Gray's harbor a few days since. It had been so long in the water that it was impossible to describe the features. The body was given decent burial near where found.

The music at the City park yesterday by Kay's band gave good satisfaction. Over 3000 people visited the park and all enjoyed themselves. The only drawback to their comfort was a lack of seats. The crowd was well behaved and gave the park keeper, Mr. Myers, no trouble.

J. W. Shaeffer's Green Seals are the finest Havana Cigars on the coast.

LAST CHANCE FOR CHEAP TRIP TO THE OCEAN.—The excursion by the Hall street church, with the Lurline, to Astoria and Ilwaco on Wednesday will probably be the last cheap trip to the ocean this season. Only $1 00 round trip to Astoria, only $1 50 round trip to Fort Canby or Ilwaco.

Something new! Ghirardelli's Nickel Chocolate. Wholesome and delicious for eating. 7

A NIGHT ON A TRAIN

How Passengers Tried to be Comfortable in the Heat—Bear Stories—The Prophecies of Daniel and Women's Rights

Stay at home people have but little idea of the number of people who travel and although they may suffer a little from the heat, have no idea of the amount of discomfort that can be crowded into a night till they have spent one traveling by rail through a hot dusty country.

Of course the palace sleeping car has done much to mitigate the discomforts of railway traveling, but the proportion of the traveling public who patronize these luxurious affairs is and always will be comparatively small. The writer spent a portion of the night on a railway train a short time since without taking a sleeper and he rather enjoyed it and gathered some information. A reporter being an animal of nocturnal habits has no inclination to go to bed when other people do so when the last game of whist had been played, the last story told and the last cigar smoked in the sleeper and each inmate had stowed himself away in his seat, the writer went out and sat on the platform and smoked another cigar and then concluded to make a midnight tour of the coaches. He found the majority of the passengers sleeping or trying to sleep. Children had the advantage of being able to recline in a seat with some degree of comfort and they lay sprawled around in all directions, occasionally starting up as some overhanging limb became tired and turning uneasily to a new position. Some of the women could also manage to curl up in a seat and with their heads pillowed on satchels managed to snooze until some motion of a child alongside would awaken them. Then one would sit up, readjust the little one, look wearily around for a moment and then try for another nap. The men tried every conceivable plan of stowing themselves, but none were comfortable. Here would be one big fellow sprawled over two seats with his bald head pillowed on a roll of blankets snoring vigorously, while opposite was a fellow so corpulent that lying down was impossible. He had pulled his hat down over his eyes, braced himself and was stealing cat naps, of forty winks each, every unusual noise as the slamming of a door, causing him to start like a guilty thing and straighten up for a few moments. Here could be seen a quartette trying to keep awake and amuse themselves with the help of an old pack of cards, while on the opposite side a young fellow was pursuing knowledge under difficulties, trying to extract it from the pages of a 5-cent dime novel. In the next seat was a man slightly bald, with side whiskers who looked as if he might be Samuel of Posen's father, his wide-open mouth closing spasmodically at times as if he were cutting rates or trying to sell a job lot. Some had their heads pillowed on the arms of seats, others on the window sill, some had their head hung over the backs of their seats, but all were perspiring and all uncomfortable.

In the forward cars were a lot of emigrants who had been at this sort of thing for several days in succession. Coats and shoes had been removed by the men, children were packed in seats like sardines and the women had found out how to stow themselves so as to suffer as little as possible.

At last a party of wideawakes was found. One of them was just from Arizona, where, as he said, the soldiers who died sent back for their blankets. He did not mind the heat. Another was a mighty hunter who had his pocket full of cougar and bear claws and the talons of eagles. He amused those around him for a long time with a recital of his adventures. Last winter he had killed two cougars, one bear, ten wild cats and seventeen deer. His thrilling stories kept all around him interested for some time. Even the genial conductor would put down his lantern on the floor and listen till a shriek of the whistle would warn him that the train was approaching a station, when out he would rush and wave his lantern and be answered by another lantern from some platform, and the train would dash [illegible] and he would come back to [illegible] the last particulars of the death of a bear or cougar.

As last the party dropped off one by one till only the hunter and reporter [illegible]. [illegible] the hunter started in on a religious topic. He evidently noticed a serious tone in the reporter and so began talking about the prophecies of Daniel. He said he had read the scriptures a great deal, especially the prophecies, and he had arrived at the conclusion that the end of time was near at hand. And then he stopped to give the reporter a chance. The latter freely confessed that owing to the exigencies of a somewhat busy and perhaps misspent life he had not been able to give that attention to the prophecies which their importance demanded. He however knew a man who has bestowed much time and brain force in endeavoring to interpret them. The hunter wished that the reporter would get this gentleman to give an opinion on the prophecy which runs about as follows: "Then the wife shall be as if she had no husband and the husband as if he had no wife." The reporter thought that this had some reference to the way in which divorces are now ground out in state circuit courts, but this was not received with favor. When urged for his opinion in the matter he said that he thought it referred to the woman's rights question. He said that the time referred to is a coming. The Lord said that the man was the head of the family and St. Paul also gave woman to understand what their proper sphere was. But only the other day in New York one of the leaders of the woman's rights movement said she did not intend to be dictated to by Paul or any other man for that matter. The man was full of his subject and the reporter had also got his fill, so as daylight had come, he made an excuse to get out on a platform to view the beauties of nature and ponder on the woman's rights question and its relation to the approaching end of the world.

BASEBALL

The Portlands Defeat the Willamettes Yesterday by a Score of 10 to 5

Despite the hot weather a good crowd visited the Oaks yesterday to see the game between the Portlands and Willamettes. The good luck which followed the Portlands last season seems to have returned to them and they defeated the Willamettes 10 to 5. In the absence of Timmons and Evans the services of Mebus of the Columbias were secured for catcher and, considering that he never before stood behind the bat nor wore a mask, he did well. He is a fine all round player. Connolly seems to have developed into a first-class pitcher. Only three safe hits were made off his delivery and these were by weak batters. Glendenning played second base in fine style. In the fourth inning he and Mebus made a play which had never before been attempted at the Oaks. Corliss was on third base and Wilson at first. Two men were out. Wilson started for second. Mebus threw the ball to Glendenning and Corliss started for home, but Glendenning returned the ball to Mebus in time to catch Corliss at the home plate. A fine play, but a little too risky to be tried every time the opportunity offers. There was a brilliant double play in the eighth inning, Bailey catching a long fly in right field and throwing it to second in time to [illegible] a base runner who had started for third. Parrott pitched a strong game for eight innings, when he became careless and allowed himself to be batted for three singles and two doubles. Up to the ninth inning only two safe hits had been made by the Portlanders. G. Smith distinguished himself by capturing a long fly in his left hand near the east fence, which evoked loud applause. Following is

BASEBALL NOTES.

About the only batting yesterday was by the men who are considered "sure outs."

The Seattle Reds and the Astoria Amities will probably visit Portland in August.

Nothing pleases the East Portland contingent so much as to see Dan Coulter strike out.

With Mullee and Creegan gone, we may look for more evenly contested games the remainder of the season.

All the Willamettes need now is a man who can hold Parrott's delivery and throw to second base. Where is the man?

It is evident that Connolly has been practicing hard in throwing curves. Yesterday's record would do credit to any professional.

The Shoshone club are billed to be here late this month for two matches, one against the Portlands and one against the Willamettes. The Shoshones are the champions of Idaho and have defeated the [illegible] of Salt Lake.

LIFE IN ALASKA

Few people have more than a general idea of Alaska and tourists who visit its principal city each summer are invariably surprised to find there surrounded by primeval nature and aboriginal heathenism and squalor the highest types of civilization and society. Sitka is peopled by persons of intelligence and education from the states and as a general thing life in that city is very much the same as it is elsewhere under the same government. Still there are some things which while they are commonplace enough to Alaskans strike a visitor as exceedingly curious and interesting. Some of these are found mirrored in the Alaskan, Sitka's bright and newsy little paper the latest issues of which have just been received.

Baseball has captured Sitka. A goodly supply of bats and balls arrived by the last steamer and the boys have been making good use of them. Daily and nightly the game goes on. We wonder when the boys sleep. At 6 A. M. coming to our office the game is on and when at 10 30 P. M. we leave the cares of office behind us and seek the seclusion of our family mansion the cry of "foul" and "out on first" greets our ears as we cross the plaza. Baseball is a fascinator and no mistake.

This thing of playing ball at night sounds strange in a place where they have no electric lights save the aurora borealis but here is the explanation. There are no nights just now—a few moments of twilight and daylight comes again. Our readers below will probably question our veracity when we tell them at 11 o'clock at night (?) the print of a newspaper can be distinctly read and to go to bed to sleep with the feeling that it is bedtime one must pull down the blinds."

Something of the way in which ardent spirits are smuggled into the prohibited territory may be learned from a published "Notice of Seizure" by Collector Peter French. A box of drugs containing ten one gallon bottles labeled "Essence of Peppermint," "Tincture of Arnica" and "Paregoric" were all found to contain whisky. Three gallon bottles marked "Blackberry [illegible]" contained a very good quality of California port wine. Two barrels of sugar were each discovered to contain in the center of the sugar a ten gallon keg of whisky. Four one gallon bottles labeled "Tincture of Iron" were like the old lady's pizen and whisky a great deal of tincture and very little iron. A five gallon demijohn of brandy was labeled "Spirits of Nitre" and the same amount of good old Holland gin purported to be "spirits of camphor."

The beautiful summer weather that the people of Sitka are now enjoying is thus spoken of: "It must be difficult for those who think of Alaska simply as a land of icebergs and glaciers as many do to believe the statement that we have here on Baranoff island more than 300 varieties of flowers and song birds of many species, [illegible] such the truth. The growth of our forests is almost of a tropical nature—certainly semi tropical—and were a stranger dropped down in the midst of one of these tangled wildwoods he would declare he was in Louisiana or Florida. Very little is as yet known of the flora of this country comparatively speaking. Here the botanist could find material for most entertaining labor."

However life is not all sunshine and flowers there as the following tells: "If you are seeking variety in the exercise line we suggest that you occupy one of the seats on the Indian river bridge and if the gnats and mosquitoes don't furnish you with gymnastics and calisthenics to your heart's content then your experience will be entirely different from what our own has been of late."

Alaska has a poet and it is to be presumed that he is a terror to the local editor for the latter says: "We sincerely regret that we have no poem this week from the pen of the poet laureate the sweet singer of Alaska but undoubtedly by the time another issue is ready to go to press he will have an attack of the divine afflatus and we will convince our readers that man was made to mourn."

The mission school is doing a good work among the young Indians of the territory. There are eighty two children now at the school which has connected with it an industrial department. This special branch of education has developed in some of the scholars a gift for mechanics which in one or two instances amounts to genius and in many to a most decided talent. The Alaskan says: "When we compare the mental and physical condition of its pupils with that of an equal number of Indians of the same average age and residents of the ranch argument as to what the school has and can accomplish is at an end." The boys of the school are also trained in military tactics and are already very proficient both in marching and in the manual of arms. Their drill master is Sergeant Sullivan of the army. The mission people have recently been reinforced by three new teachers Miss Paekle Miss Rogers and Mrs W[illegible] all of whom exhibit great zeal in the discharge of the duties in their new field of labor.

One of the principal restaurants in the place is kept by a Chinaman who wears the euphonious name of Ah Sow. It is not stated whether bacon is the principal article of diet, but the place must be well patronized as the paper speaks of the proprietor smiling the livelong day. It further remarks: "If all Celestials were after the Sow pattern there would be no cry heard in the land assuring the Orientals that they must seek other climes."

As elsewhere the reporter finds it hard work to catch the evanescent item and is sometimes reduced to the straight of printing one like this: "We are rapidly becoming civilized and putting on metropolitan airs. Vide the bull team yoked to a wagon rushing along our streets and creating a sensation equalled only by the arrival of the greatest show on earth."

There seems to be less excitement about mines and mining in Sitka than there is in some places a thousand or more miles away. Still the fact remains that the mountains are full of good ore and that it is exceedingly hard to get. June 29 the much talked of Lucky Chance mine could not be operated on account of the snow that was still five feet deep in the gulch. As soon as the snow disappears washing the placer will immediately begin and great results are expected by the members of the Lake M[illegible] mining company which owns the field. They are also pushing a tunnel into some quartz and expect to demonstrate within 60 days that they have a very valuable property. The superintendent Mr Heppner recently brought down from the mine specimens of ore of a character which to quote the language of Mr Treadwell of the famous Douglas Island mine the company only needed a [illegible] to enable every stockholder to retire from business. It was certainly the finest appearing rock ever seen in Sitka.

The Alaskan also understands that very valuable discoveries have been made in the Silver bay district within the last week. Parties who have examined the quartz tell us that it is by all odds the richest in free gold ever exhibited here.

Sitka society has its balls and parties its pink teas and its old maids the same as Portland. Mrs Laura E. Cowles a social leader entertained her friends the other day by a picnic party to the ranch of Mr James Holly[illegible] on Katalia[illegible] bay. The society editor says in his report: "The weather was not propitious but the ardor of the company was not in the least dampened though as much cannot be said of their persons. Those who did not get wet with the rain fell in the river and thus kept up the equilibrium of the party. However rain or no rain it was a jolly affair and fun and lots of it was the order of the day. Everybody enjoyed himself or herself and more too and the only regret was that some of her friends did not go who ought to have done. If there is one thing more than another that this climate is adapted to it is picknicking but the way to go is when the sun is shining grab a cracker and light out."

Art also flourishes in Sitka. The principal devotees are those who come for a short sketching season bounded by the arrival and departure of the steamer. The work of these is duly chronicled and criticised in the columns of the Alaskan which gives a finishing tone to its really metropolitan appearance. Mrs O. I. Baker is a resident artist and teacher and Mr De Groff, an enterprising photographer is kept busy taking views for tourists. Mrs Baker has recently made a very charming sketch of the mountains north of Sitka and looking toward Archangel and some of her pupils have copied the beauties of Mount Edgecombe and Verstovia.

There is no small community that has not a large-sized grievance and Sitka is no exception to the rule. Its grievance is against the Pacific Coast steamship company and its charge for carrying freight. The Alaskan [illegible] We know of a man who shipped to Sitka from Portland an ordinary [illegible] the cost of which at Portland was $[illegible] and the freight on that [illegible] was $20. A box shipped by a gentleman from Sitka to Portland less than one cubic foot in dimensions and weighing less than ten pounds was carried for $[illegible] and the freight on [illegible] pounds of tobacco from Portland to Sitka was [illegible]50. It [illegible] be remembered that it costs money to run an ocean steamer and the amount of freight carried up to Alaska by no means taxes the vessel's capacity. Probably [illegible] more [illegible] the freight rates will not be [illegible]. As our esteemed contemporary [illegible] would say [illegible]

Hon H L Marston has sold [illegible] in the mercantile firm of Marston & M[illegible] to Lot Livermore and will hereafter [illegible] business.

Frank B Clopton the new postmaster will take charge of the postoffice in a few days. Mr [illegible] who retires has made a good officer and his smiling countenance in the postoffice will be missed.

It is generally conceded that only about half a [illegible] will be raised in this county this year. As the acreage of grain is small this year this may be said to be an indication of hard times for the ensuing season.

Grand Master R. Alexander I. O. O. F. will leave here next Tuesday for the Wallowa valley and while there will institute an Odd Fellows lodge at Joseph. He will be accompanied by several members of the order.

The bondsmen of N. Hendricks ex county treasurer have become indignant and have had him arrested and he is now in jail awaiting the action of the grand jury being unable to give the bonds required which were fixed at $16 000.

THE EAST SIDE

A Crazy Heathen—Several Arrests—General and Personal Notes

A demented Mongolian created considerable disturbance last evening in the vicinity of First and I streets by yelling and throwing rocks at women and children. The lunatic finally wandered down to the foot of I street where he was taken in charge by officer Alterbury. On learning that the heathen belonged on the west side the officer placed him aboard the Stark street ferry and sent him to Portland.

SENT TO JAIL

Thomas Ryan George Hanson and Thomas Carson tough citizens were arraigned in the recorder's court on Friday on a charge of disorderly conduct. In default of $[illegible]0 bonds they were committed to the county jail to await the action of the grand jury. James Fitch another of the gang assaulted city marshal McMillan at the time of the arrest and was found guilty of assault and battery.

BRIDGE PROSPECTS

The East Portland Star has information from a member of the Morrison street bridge company to the effect that the iron work of the structure is now being turned out in San Francisco as rapidly as possible the contracts for the stone work have already been let and that the business of actual construction will begin in a short time. This news, though vague is encouraging.

THREATENING TO KILL

J. N. Dooley was arrested by city marshal McMillan on Saturday on a warrant from the recorder's court charging him with threatening to kill C. C. Arnoldts. He will have an examination at 10 o'clock this morning.

NOTES

Regular meeting of the common council to night.

Ed Gray joined the campers at Long Beach on Saturday.

Miss Annie Campbell returned from Yaquina bay on Saturday.

Prof Wetzell and wife and Mr and Mrs Cummings returned from Yaquina bay on Saturday.

Capt. Henry Van Auken and wife came back Saturday after a week's recreation at Yaquina bay.

Ex County Clerk J. N. Sanders who returned from Newport on Thursday is much improved in health.

Ex Justice F. M. Coleman left on Saturday for Spokane Falls where he expects to remain several weeks.

The fan social given by I. [illegible] lodge on Saturday evening was a pleasant affair throughout and very well attended.

Dr and Mrs Dav Rafferty accompanied by Mrs. A. H. Logan and Ross Logan will swell the list of campers at Long Beach to morrow.

Mrs D. J. Moomaw who has been visiting friends here for several weeks past returned to her home in Baker City yesterday.

Matthew Watson who for the past several months has been sojourning in the Southern states returned on Friday last much improved in health.

Rev Walter Bass an eloquent divine from Victoria B. C. occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church at the morning and evening hours yesterday.

Mrs Morris Webster and family accompanied by her mother Mrs. Geo L Curry will leave this morning for Yaquina Bay to spend the summer months.

Miss Nora Simpson and her sister Mrs A. W. Stowell will leave on Thursday for San Francisco where they will visit during the next month with the family of Hon Syl C Simpson.

W. W. McGuire returned on Friday from La Grande where he has been estimating on a system of gravity water works for that city. He says the works will undoubtedly be built within a short time.

INVESTIGATING AN OUTRAGE

The Governor of Idaho at Pierce City Idaho, Investigating the Lynching of Five Chinese

PIERCE CITY Idaho July 10

Sometime in September of last year a merchant named Frazier of this city was found dead having been murdered during the night by parties unknown. The object of the murder was at first supposed to be money but as the safe was intact this theory was exploded and the real cause of the murder has been shrouded in mystery. The fact however is patent that Frazier was killed his body presenting the appearance of a prolonged struggle with his assailants who used a pistol hatchet and club. A few days after, a party of men from Lewiston joined another party on the prairie and went to investigate the affair. The Chinamen at Pierce City were a majority of the inhabitants. Five Chinamen were then hung. The Chinese government have recently made a demand on the secretary of the United States for an investigation of the affair. They represent that the Chinese were innocent of the murder that the murder was committed by white men and they demand money damages from our government. The secretary ordered the governor of Idaho to come at once to this city and to thoroughly investigate the matter. In compliance with this official order Governor Stevenson is here examining into the situation. Two of the Chinese who were hung by the mob were merchants doing business here the other three were miners. Why these Chinese could not have been given an examination, appears unjust to the Chinese government. It also appears from the report of the Chinese officials that these Chinamen who were the victims of the mob were robbed of large sums of money and that a number of the same persons who killed and robbed the Chinese were with the party who killed Frazier. Our government is anxious to bring the parties to justice and is concerned lest the Chinese in China may retaliate on our citizens residing in China.

SALEM NOTES

SALEM July 1[illegible]

Mrs R. S. Wallace and daughter have gone to San Francisco via Yaquina bay.

Mrs J. F. Young of New Tacoma, W. T. is visiting her mother and sisters in this city.

Mr Henry E Geisy and Miss Lizzie L Carmany were married at Hubbard's station on Thursday last.

Salem will send quite a large delegation to the grand encampment of the G. A. R. at San Francisco.

Hon L. B. Stearns and wife of Portland passed up the road this morning en route for Coos bay on a camping expedition.

The Barnes hook and ladder company No 1 of Olympia, W. T. contemplate uniting with the Firemen's association of Oregon.

The new brick stockade at the prison will probably be completed this fall which will greatly enhance the security of the institution.

Prof Keith the well known electrician accompanied by his wife came up on the morning train. He will at once complete the electric light system in this city.

President Smith of the O. R. & N. Co accompanied by C. J. Smith and Hon C. A. Dolph passed up the road this morning en route to San Francisco overland.

George Sun the well known Chinese merchant of this city has recently returned from the flowery kingdom with his bride. A large number of the ladies of Salem have called upon her. She is kept very secluded.

The last Sydney circular received issued by the New Zealand Loan & Mercantile Agency company, contains the following, concerning the wheat market: "An excellent month's business must be chronicled indeed many years have elapsed since our market has displayed such activity. Our sales have been on a considerable scale principally of New Zealand and California and we now have inquiries for Indian and if the latter description can be landed equal to samples shown here there can be no doubt it would find ready sale. At the moment we have several millers desirous of giving the California grain a trial and we have little doubt we could place to advantage two or three cargoes of No 1 white or the selected milling."

In connection with its July statement of grain stocks the San Francisco produce exchange furnishes the following statement of the movement for twelve months ended July 1 1886. Allowing two centals of wheat as the equivalent of a barrel of flour the following results are obtained:

| | Tons |
|---|---|
| Exports of flour 1885 6 1 09[illegible] 6 bbls equal to | 1[illegible] |
| Exports of wheat [illegible] 11 10 320 ctls equal to | 5 01[illegible] |

| Stock carried over July 1 [illegible] | [illegible] |
| California crop 188[illegible] | [illegible] |

RECEIPTS—Last twenty four hours 607 bbls flour 12[illegible] ctls oats 125 ctls bran 3[illegible] ctls millstuff [illegible] sks wool [illegible] hides 8 cs eggs 16 bxs fruit 6 cs butter 14 cattle 156 sheep. Also 6231 ctls wheat 1[illegible] flour 200 ctls bran [illegible] sks wool 5 020 [illegible] hides 104 bxs fruit from the eastern section.

FREIGHTS—British iron bark River Clyde 11[illegible] tons arrived seeking. The market presents no new feature of interest. There is now 10 165 tons register in river engaged 3[illegible] tons iron and 22[illegible] tons wood open with 36 9[illegible]2 tons listed to arrive. Report has the Beechholm chartered.

WHEAT—No valley in yesterday and receipts of Walla Walla are small. Advices to-day are of the usual Saturday character the markets all being quiet. Locally $1 0[illegible]@1 05[illegible] and $1 [illegible]@1 15 is nominally quoted.

POTATOES—California selling at $1 10 for Early Rose and $1 40 for Garnets. New Oregon in limited trading at 1¼@1½c.

ONIONS—Last arrivals selling lower at $1 [illegible] per cental. The request is as usual.

PROVISIONS—Bacon and hams of a choice quality are in scant stock and prices are firm. Shoulders are doing well in the absence of other cuts of local. Eastern in slightly increased receipt and firm.

We quote prices for ordinary sized parcels: City cured hams 10@11c do bacon, 7½@8c do shoulders 6½@7c country cured, generally ½@1c less. Eastern hams 13½@14c, do bacon 7½@7¾c do breakfast bacon 10½c best Eastern lard in tins 8¼@8¾c best local 7¼@7¾c common in large packages 6½@[illegible]¾c.

DRIED FRUIT—Trade almost wholly confined to imported kinds and the market is firm.

EGGS—The market closes fairly steady at 20c but should arrivals not be reduced it must go still lower as the demand at present prices fails to take all offering.

POULTRY—Chickens quoted $[illegible]@5 25 young being mostly inquired for. Ducks geese and turkeys are not wanted.

BUTTER—Choice roll in fair request at 15@1[illegible]½c, and best solid has been asked for. Other grades in full stock and dull.

HOPS—The excitement is diminishing and new crop reports would be needed to stimulate business. Speculators show very little disposition to repeat last prices offered and none whatever to meet the demands of growers. New York has not followed the interior and there is no word that the foreign markets exhibited any scare although they have advanced. San Francisco is reporting a quieter feeling with buyers talking lower bids. Last press dispatches intimate a three-fifths crop in New York state.

WOOL—Fair business only as the movement is light. Quotations are 15@[illegible]c for Eastern and 16@23c for valley. At New York the market continues buoyant under a good demand for nearly all descriptions and with favorable advices from all directions buyers experience some difficulty in satisfying their wants at current prices. They refuse to further advance bids.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK July 17—Government bonds were quiet and a shade weaker to day. Trading in stocks was limited. The Vanderbilts were unusually featureless both Lake Shore and New York Central making no change in quotations until the last hour. At first prices were generally [illegible] per cent lower than last evening's close and after a tame featureless day final prices show irregular changes but in no case for more than a fraction. Pacific Mail and Lake Erie pfd are up ¼ per cent each. Almost every thing is higher compared with last week's prices.

The Mail and Express says: Sales of mining shares were few. Best & Belcher sold at $1 [illegible] California & Virginia $1 60 Hale & Norcross $2 [illegible] Little Pittsburg $2 50 Little Chief [illegible]c Moulton 20c Orient & Miller [illegible]c Sierra Nevada [illegible] Savage $3.
